SKILLS CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES IN THE EU

Critical skills shortages for employers

- 42 shortage occupations, with the biggest shortages in construction, healthcare, ICT
- 74% of SMEs are facing skills shortages
- In the future, 90% of jobs will require digital skills

Pressing skills and training gaps

- Only 39.5% of adults participate in training every year
- More than 1/3 of the EU's labour force lack the digital skills required in most jobs

Skills for new opportunities

- Substantial job growth expected from the green and digital transitions
- By 2030, 3.5 million new jobs are expected to be created in renewable energy sectors
- There is untapped potential among underrepresented groups, such as women, low-skilled, young NEETs and older workers

Objective of 60 % of adults participating in training every year by 2030 (EU headline target)

SKILLS CHANGE LIVES

Above all, the European Year of Skills is about empowering people to develop their professional lives. Better skills mean new opportunities, higher quality jobs, and a more competitive European economy. These are some of the people whose lives were changed by the Year.

Aline Sinzo, Belgium

After a decade in a comfortable job, I decided to change my career path. Learning to code opened doors in the digital sector and boosted my confidence.

Taking the first step was challenging, but it paved the way for progression and I know the best is yet to come.

Barry Williams, Ireland

When my business folded, I had no formal qualifications so I decided to follow a computer course.

As I progressed, I found my calling as a further education teacher and I'm now helping to support adult learners. Imparting knowledge to those who find themselves in a similar position to mine is a truly fulfilling experience.

Sylwia Krębuszewska-Koziel, Poland

I inherited my business from my great-grandfather. Combining over a hundred years of bakery tradition with modern trends, I focus on always improving my own and my staff's skills. Keeping up to date is key and nourishing my staff's ambitions, curiosity, and hunger for knowledge is very important to me.
